E. C. RAMSEY TELLS
STORY OF EUROPE

Lisbon Speaker Reveals European War Preparations

LISBON, Jan. 27.—Is Europe on the brink of a cataclysmic war? Or are reports emanating from continental sources greatly exaggerated?
E. C. Ramsey of Washington, D.
C., world traveler and newspaperman, left small doubt in the minds of two groups he addressed here Thursday regarding the answers to these questions.

Speaking in the morning to High school students and at noon to the Kiwanis club, Ramsey told of foreign preparations for a conflict which the majority of Europeans regard as inevitable.

Under assumed names, Ramsey belongs to the Fascist, Nazi and Anarchist organizations. Close to the center of activities by virtue of these memberships, he revealed some of the military preparations now under way in many European countries.

Arms Bristle Everywhere
"Russia," he said, "has mined and fortified an area 100 miles in width extending from the Baltic to the Black sea. The Russo-Rumanian border, in spite of a peace pact, bristles with machine guns and barbed wire. Italy is building new roads touching no industrial centers three of which lead directly to the French border."

The speaker described youth organizations in Germany and Italy.
"Mussolini has regimented six-year-old boys, giving them real guns to drill with," the speaker said. "The organization is called 'The Little Wolves.' The youngsters' drilling song ends with this line: 'We will murder our enemies one by one.'"

Ramsey predicted that the Trans-ylvanians in Rumania would soon demand self-determination, possibly furnishing Hitler with a pretext leading to the control of at least part of that country. Greece, he said, still hates Turkey for the massacres the latter country inflicted on the Greeks.

Cites Japan's Greed
Japan's campaign of aggression was pointed to by the speaker as further typifying the greed of militaristic nations, leading to the approaching conflict. A new religion is developing in Japan, according to the speaker. "It's creed," he said,
"is incorporated in this excerpt:
'One there was Japan and other nations. Soon there will be only Japan.' Ramsey pointed to the seizure of Formosa, Korea and Man-chukuo as well as the present campaign in China in illustrating his point.

"Great Britain, following the Munich pact, became just Britain," the speaker said. "John Bull, who used to be and snort at the hint of an imposition, has become Ferdinand the Bull, going from daisy to daisy and sniffing them."

Mother and Family Are Given a Home

Not all dogs are as intelligent as the one Humane Officer Clarkson
French got the other day.

The dog, a beagle hound, had wandered over to the Central Clinic and wouldn't leave.

Police were called and the animal was given to the humane officer.

French discovered the dog was going to have "a family" before long.

Pretty smart for the dog to go to the hospital, mused the authorities.
"The family" will be born at French's kennels on the Ellsworth road.

WILSON AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR STREET PROJECT

City to Purchase $8,000
Worth of Equipment
For PWA Job

COST FIGURED IN SPONSOR'S SHARE

And Machinery, at End of Project, Will Belong
To Municipality

With work begun on the city's PWA blanket street project, Service Director Frank Wilson today announced the award of contracts on several items to be used on the job.
The city is purchasing $8,000 worth of equipment, authorized by council, which will be part of the sponsor's share of expense in the $190-315 project.

City officials did not hesitate in sanctioning the equipment purchases after it was explained that the items would help build up their share of expense, and then, at the conclusion of the job, the city would own the new equipment.

Wins Slag Contract

The Salina Supply Co. of Salem submitted the low bid of $150 a ton and received the contract for furnishing slag needed for the paving of W. Fifth st. The slag will be used as a binder for the base material, the service director said.

The base material is coming from the city's stone quarry on the Egypt road. Fifty PWA workers have begun operations there.

The contract for providing 850 feet of 24-inch pipe for the W. Fifth st. storm sewer was awarded the Robinson Clay Products Co. of Akron, which bid $1.08 a foot.

A grader to be used in the street improvements will be furnished by the Galton Iron Works of Galion.
Director Wilson said. The machine weighs 18,000 pounds, has a 12-foot blade and is worth $3,860.

A week ago the city purchased a new truck for use on the job. A concrete mixer will be bought in the spring. The city already owns sidewalk and curb rollers.

The city's 12-ton roller, purchased two years ago, will aid in the work.
City to "Rent" Equipment

Under provisions of the PWA project agreement, the city will gain additional sponsor's funds in being allowed to rent its grader, roller and other big equipment to the project. It has been explained.

The project is designed for the improvement, by paving, of approximately three miles of dirt streets.
Operations are expected to extend over a period of two years.

The streets to be paved will be those on which resident property owners petitioned for improvement.
The W. Fifth st. property owners were the first to get their assessment costs paid at the auditor's office and therefore were assured that their street would be the first to be paved.

Depot road, Prospect st., and S.
Lundy ave., between Columbia and Franklin sts., may be next on the program. The city engineer's office will furnish residents of any street details of the project.

LEWIS ATTACKS TRADE "DEALS"

Begins Three-Way Drive
On Administration's
Reciprocal Pacts

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Representative Earl R. Lewis (R-Ohio) started a three-way attack today on the administration's reciprocal trade agreement program.

He offered one bill to repeal the trade agreements act, another to prohibit the reduction of any duty by a trade agreement and a third to require senate ratification of all trade agreements.

Lewis said that in his district the trade agreements program had harmful glass and pottery manufacturers and farmers, and the steel industry was beginning to feel its effects.

Church Is Hailed As Dynamic Force

That the church is a dynamic force when the Holy Ghost power is manifest was pointed out by Rev. Charles Hanks, pastor of the East Liverpool Nazarene church.

In an address at the fifth of a series of revival services at the Salem
Church of the Nazarene last night.

Speaking on the subject, "Power of the Holy Ghost," Rev. Hanks declared:

"What the church needs today is power—not physical power, not financial power, not intellectual power, but Holy Ghost power."

Rev. H. H. McManis, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of New Waterford, will be the speaker at tonight's revival service, starting at 7:30.

"Schnazi" Hero at Lisbon; Aids His Little Mistress

Dog-Licenses Time Brings Out Stories; Some, However, Would Make Veteran Fishermen Writhe

LISBON, Jan. 26.—Now that the last minute rush for dog licenses has subsided and that department of the county auditor's office handling them is enjoying a 'breath,' dog stories are gaining circulation about the court house.

There is, for instance, the story concerning a pet named "Schnazi" who is owned by a family living near Lisbon. Schnazi is a neighborhood hero and his fame is gradually gaining wider circulation following a recent episode in which he distinguished himself.

Wanders Away
A three-year-old daughter is the family's chief pride. The other day, after watching her grandfather drive the cows into the barn, she wandered away. A fence barred her path. The tot managed to crawl through the fence but was unable to return.

Night was falling. Childish alarm almost reached the panic stage when Schnazi appeared. "Get mama," the youngster said and the faithful animal trotted back to the house. There he tugged at the mother's skirts and barked until she followed him. The dog led her straight to the child who otherwise might have shared the plight of the "babes in the wood."

Bull? Yes—Ferdinand!
Ray Adam, chief deputy auditor, was helping out in the pre-deadline hours last week. A man approached him and the following conversation ensued:

Ray: "What kind of dog is it?"
Applicant: "A Boston Bull!"
Ray: "What's its name?"
Applicant: "What do you think?"
Ray: "I'm asking you."
Applicant: "Ferdinand."

Thick Make Fisherman Writhe Then there's the story about the dog belonging to Sam Herron of Homeworth. Sam is now distributor for his town; but in the days when he bought the license here, the dog, carrying a dollar in his mouth, would appear at the office every year, alone. He would never release his grip on the dollar until the tag was placed on his collar. Nor could he be driven out until he had accomplished his chore.

Mail Checks Monday To Ohio Pensioners

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—Mailing of January checks to Ohio's 112,000 aged pensioners probably will be started Monday, Mayson Hayhurst, office manager for the state auditor, said today.

Although federal funds to match state grants for the first quarter of 1939 have been allocated, Hayhurst said the check had not been received although it was expected shortly. He said preparation of checks had been delayed because of hundreds of minor changes made in the amounts.

LISBON SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS

O. C. Caldwell Renamed
President, George C.
Porter, Clerk

LISBON, Jan. 27.—O. C. Caldwell was re-elected president of the Lisbon board of education and George C. Porter was renamed clerk at a meeting last night.

The meeting followed a dinner served at the Hotel Wick to members of the board, their wives and Supt. and Mrs. H. C. Leonard.

The resignation of L. S. Firestone as a member of the board was accepted and R. O. Rogers was elected to succeed him as vice president of the body.

Earl D. Richardson was appointed to fill Firestone's unexpired term, which has one year to run.
V. C. Barlow is the other member of the board.

In response to numerous requests, the board decided to set aside two nights each week for public use of the new High school gymnasium. This is the only indoor recreation spot available to Lisbon residents.

FRANCO TROOPS TAKE BADALONA

Leaves Army of Occupation to Put Conquered
Barcelona In Order

By LARRY ALLEN,
Associated Press Writer.

BARCELONA, Jan. 27.—The conquering Spanish insurgents, flushed with their success in capturing Barcelona, pushed up the coast today and seized the village of Badalona in the offensive designed to wipe out government forces from Catalonia.

Badalona, approximately six miles by road northeast of the fallen provisional capital, lies on a main highway which follows the coast to the northeast more than 30 miles and then cuts inland due north to Gerona and Figueras and thence to the frontier with France.

Tumultuous Scenes
In Barcelona today I witnessed tumultuous scenes.

There were hundreds of demonstrations, led by truckloads of women who were celebrating the end of hunger, privations and the bombings of war.

The spearhead of Generalissimo Franco's troops had pressed beyond the city in a "Catalonian mop-up" drive toward the French frontier which lies 70 miles north in a straight line.

ECONOMY'S NO FUN

Everybody believes in economy, but no one likes to practice it. Recent news from the economy front indicates that human nature hasn't changed any. Many an executive and many a legislator who learned the virtue of economy at his mother's knee is beginning to wonder if she knew what she was talking about.

All the pressure is in the other direction. The way to be popular is to spend. The way to get reelected is to do something handsome for the voters.

They say so, themselves. To be sure, some of them feel the other way, but they aren't the ones who take the trouble to tell a beleaguered congressman what they think.

The President of the United States, who's a shrewd politician, seems willing, even anxious, to stake the outcome of his political career on extravagance, and he wields a lot of influence.

Economy's no fun. Besides, it seems futile to get tough about a few thousands, a few millions, or even half a billion. It's only a drop in the bucket compared to the total.

These are the thoughts which have wrecked economy for the last 10 years. They are the things which will wreck it in 1939, unless they can be offset by articulate popular determination to keep government off the rocks of a "loose fiscal policy"—meaning government everywhere, from cities, on up through the states to Washington itself.

The spenders always get a hearing; they see to that. The non-spenders, if they're going to get anywhere, must make themselves heard, too.

DUCKING THE LAME DUCK LAW

When Sen. Norris fought, bled, and almost died trying to shoo lame ducks out of office, he didn't worry about what was going to become of them.

As he saw it, when voters said, "Scat," they meant it. There was no sense in letting them make a decision if it weren't carried out. So a constitutional amendment was ratified to get rid of lame ducks. Sen. Norris got credit for the reform.

What, then, does Sen. Norris think of the practice of putting lame ducks back on the payroll by presidential appointments? The latest addition is Thomas R. Amle, Wisconsin radical, nominated for a vacancy on the interstate commerce commission by President Roosevelt.

Amle was defeated in a bid for reelection to the house of representatives. An advocate of more government authority over almost everything, he was turned out of office by his constituents.

He has no visible qualifications for membership on the important interstate commerce commission. His nomination is motivated apparently by the same thing which motivated Mr. Roosevelt to appoint Frank Murphy to the attorney generalship of the United States after Mr. Murphy was turned out of the Michigan governorship—by the same thing which caused the President to appoint Harry Hopkins secretary of commerce when his post as WPA administrator got too hot for comfort.

Sen. Norris knows what that thing is; he seems to agree with Mr. Roosevelt that voters are "wrong" when they turn sour on "progressives". It's not to be imagined, therefore, that the senator will wonder why a lame duck who lost the confidence of voters should still have the confidence of the President of the United States. That wouldn't be good politics.

HAVE YOU MADE A CONTRIBUTION?

When an entire nation can be interested simultaneously in making an effort to combat infantile paralysis.

When a humanitarian impulse to bring comfort to the sick can be magnified by wholly voluntary action into a national campaign.

When hundreds of thousands of men and women are willing to spend time and effort to make such a campaign effective.

When a large sum of money can be collected and spent on a worthy purpose by contributions made without compulsion.

When all these things can be done in the name of a victim of infantile paralysis who surmounted that handicap to become chief executive of the United States.

When such an effort becomes a real force in the struggle to get control of the circumstances of a dread disease.

There's abundant hope for the future of civilization, which sometimes seems to be little more than the privilege of using various mechanical gadgets, but which, properly defined, is an outpouring of the nobility of the human spirit to improve the lot of mankind.

NO TRIUMPH IN SPAIN

Early claims of a Franco triumph, based on the loyalist government's inability to make another Madrid or Barcelona, need to be taken with plenty of salt.

No triumph is likely for the Franco forces despite their military superiority. They have advanced more or less steadily since the Spanish revolution was started on July 19, 1936, in Spanish Morocco, and now they apparently have scored an important victory. But there is no triumph.

A triumph is a marked success against heavy odds, and the odds throughout the Spanish war have favored Franco's side. It has had the better equipment, the better financing, the better trained personnel, and the more powerful backing. It has been probable from the beginning that these factors would prevail in the long run.

Perhaps the capture of Barcelona will result in termination of large scale military action, though it must be remembered Madrid and Valencia still are in the hands of the loyalist government. But it is equally important that Premier Mussolini has made military victory for Franco in Spain an Italian objective, and that Great Britain and France have given tacit consent to this peculiar form of fascist appeasement.

The war may be over before the third anniversary of its beginning. The issues of the war will remain, and they will continue to be active. It is not to be imagined that establishment of a totalitarian regime covering the entire Iberian peninsula (Portugal already is a totalitarian state) will settle anything except the certainty that Europe's plight will become worse, not better. A military dictatorship isn't a solution for Spain's problems, and it will shed no light on Europe's problems.

MIXED INFLUENCES hold sway on this day, inciting conflict and bafflement. There are indications of a definite and calamitous downfall, with disfavor in the eyes of superiors, employers or those in power, while at the same time there is presage of a sudden and surprising rise to prestige and good fortune, through an unlooked-for stroke of luck. Much is at stake, but sound judgment, right principles and the friendly intervention of influential persons are likely to turn the tide favorably.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year in which there may be many conflicting forces at work, detrimental ones assailing the stability of work, fortune and social position. At the same time there is presage of the intervention of powerful interests, suddenly and quite unpredictable, turning the tides of favor and fortune by a surprising coup, and this should be captured by wisdom, integrity and sagacity rather than intrigue or collusion.

FEAR NEXT "CYCLIC" FLOOD

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 27.—The people who do the worrying about the great Ohio valley and its floods were cautioned today that unless adequate steps are taken before the next "cyclic" flood, 80 years of progress will be washed away.

R. L. McKinney, president of the Hinton, W. Va., chamber of commerce, one of the early speakers before the Ohio Valley Conservation and Flood Control congress, couched his warning in strong words in an address he prepared to stress the "inevitability" of the Big Bend and Bluestone reservoirs in his own section.

The Ohio Valley congress, whose members probably will commit themselves to asking congress for a $195,000,000 flood control appropriation, assembled 300 strong to recall the disastrous days of 1936 and 1937 and urge steps be taken to keep them from appearing again.

Alan Jordan of Columbus, secretary of the congress, said one big task should be to get in the minds of congressional representatives the things which should be done to forestall devastation of the waters. Also, he said, the delegates should get behind a resolution to ask congress to boost the pending $110,000,000 appropriation for this year to $195,000,000 to insure start of construction on needed projects.

The proposed $14,000,000 Bluestone dam near Hinton, which is intended to hold back waters of the new river from the Kanawha, and thus from the broad Ohio itself, has been almost at the starting point for several years. Surveys were made but right of way troubles for a time held up further progress. Because of the necessity of settling land questions in actual construction, appropriation was not made.

McKinney told the congress: "Unless these dams (Bluestone and Big Bend) are constructed before the next cyclic flood such as the one of 1861, four score years of progress will be washed away."

Skin Treatment For Aged Discussed By Clendening

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Old people are frequently tortured by itching, especially in the winter time. No eruption can be seen, but on elderly skin it is a regular thing to find the excoriations and sores of scratching marks. The only reason for this is the atrophy of the skin tissues, especially the tissues beneath the skin proper. This leaves a thin parchment-like skin. It is dry because the glands which ordinarily furnish lubrication to the skin have atrophied. Perspiration is also uncommon in the aged.

The condition is worse in places where the skin is in folds, where one surface touches another. It is worse in the winter time because of our dry, close houses. The humidity in the American house in the winter is almost like that of the Sahara Desert.

Worst of all is too much soap and water for old skin. In fact, this applies to middle-aged and even young skin in the United States where we have made a fetish of

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through this column.

daily bathing and thrice daily washing. The soap takes all the lubrication off the skin and leaves it dry and hard.

Fewer Baths

I once brought an old friend of mine as a patient to a skin specialist on account of itching. The dermatologist told him to reduce the number of his baths to once a week. The old fellow returned to me a few months later greatly pleased with the results and said he had cured an entire encampment of the G. A. R. by giving them this advice.

If these simple measures do not stop itching, a diet which removes sugars, vegetables and fruits from the menu for a while may be efficacious. Local applications of camphor ice or camphor and menthol ointment may give relief and sometimes it is necessary to use an application of cocaine.

The general toxemia of the aged which is quite common, may be a factor in itching, which will have to be treated by eliminants such as cascara or rhubarb.

Another very troublesome senile change is bronchitis. The tissues of the lungs after the age of 60 are very liable to deteriorate steadily, producing a complicated situation in which infection is very liable to occur, running into chronic bronchitis and asthma. Cough mixtures containing squill are favorites with old people and medicated vapors are also valuable in these conditions. The digestion, and the state of the bowels should be very carefully controlled.

"Asthma"

The asthma may be simply a form of breathlessness and can be treated in the same way as the chronic bronchitis. Asthma in elderly people is liable to occur at exactly the same time, usually at night. Troussseau, the great French clinician, after he was 60 years old, woke up every morning at 3 o'clock with an attack of asthma. He would wake with a sense of oppression in breathing, and just as he was fully awake, he stated, the clock struck three.

The asthma remedies used in younger and stronger people are too drastic in these cases, and perhaps the best treatment is the smoking of stamoniun leaves and inhalation of medicated vapors.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 W. 45th st., New York City. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Pernine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

Here's Quick Relief for RASPY COUGHS DUE TO COLDS

FIRST—put a small lump of Vicks VapoRub on your tongue and let it melt. The medication bathes the irritated membranes as it trickles down your throat—bringing comforting relief—where you want it—when you want it.

THEN—mix a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Breathe in the vapors for a few minutes. As these vapors work their way down through the air-passages, they loosen phlegm and ease the cough.

VILLAGE FACES SEWER PROBLEM

Leetonia Officials Receive Complaints from Residents

LEETONIA, Jan. 27.—Village officials have been receiving complaints from various public spirited citizens about the unsanitary conditions which exist in a few public places in the village, relative to disposal of sewage.

In spite of the fact that sanitary sewers have been made available to most people, a few who have access to the sanitary sewer, as provided in ordinance No. 538, still continue to use other antiquated means.

This not only violates the state health laws but also the village ordinance.

Village officials have indicated their intention to enforce this ordinance to the end that the sanitary conditions of the village will be materially improved.

Theatre Attractions

The Grand presents a western action story, "Shine On Harvest Moon," tonight and Saturday.

"Shine On Harvest Moon" pits Roy Rogers against Rustler Jackson and his two sons, Shag and Ben. They attempt to gain control of the ranch owned by Roy's sweetheart's father, because it forms a natural gateway into the range where they carry on their rustling activities. When old Milt Brower holds out against them, they attempt to burn down his ranch, and would have succeeded but for the valiant intervention of Roy and his pals.

Goes Into Hiding

Homer Sheldon, president of the Stockmen's bank, accuses Brower of being in league with the rustlers and Brower, through a series of circumstances beyond his control appears to be guilty of the charge. Unable to prove his innocence against overwhelming odds, Brower goes into hiding, and Roy carries on his battle for him.

Sheldon, beneath his hypocritical veneer, is actually the finger man in the rustling gang, using his high position in the bank to secure information as to the movement of herds and pass it onto the rustlers. Roy traps him in a thrilling and dramatic film sequence and successfully defends the good name of his fiancée's father.

Mary Hart, Rogers' sweetheart, in several previous films, portrays the girl in the case. Other supporting players include Joe Whitehead, William Farnum, Chester Funnels, Lulu Belle and Scotty, radio comedians, David Sharpe and Stanley Andrews.

"Dawn Patrol" On

Errol Flynn has the leading role in "The Dawn Patrol" showing tonight and Saturday at the State. With him are Basil Rathbone and David Niven, making up the dashing trio of war aces, about whom the story centers.

A wartime drama of hell-for-leather British flying dare-devils, "The Dawn Patrol" gives Flynn the type of role he made popular when he first came to the attention of the American movie-going public as the pirate chief in "Captain Blood." His amazing pace through such brilliant action films as "The Charge of the Light Brigade" and "The Adventures of Robin Hood" left him without equal as a swash-buckler in the film colony.

Rathbone is no novice at adventuresome roles, and it was he as Sir Guy of Gisbourne who gave Flynn a run for his money in the final duelling scenes of "Robin Hood." Niven, a young Englishman whose growing popularity has placed him in great demand at the Hollywood studios, has played in several pictures with a wartime locale, and makes a perfect third for the trio, who in "The Dawn Patrol" harass the enemy at every turn with their devil-may-care flying.

Former Kaiser, 80, Is Host at Doorn

DOORN, The Netherlands, Jan. 27.—Silver-haired former Kaiser Wilhelm II., radiant with health, today received congratulations from the Hohenzollerns, German nobles and Doorn charwomen on his 80th birthday.

Wearing striped trousers, black coat and winged collar, the former German ruler entertained scores of guests and his immediate family in his modest castle, Doorn Manor.

The occasion brought together the largest assemblage of Hohenzollerns since Wilhelm celebrated his 70th birthday, but there was none of the pomp of ten years ago. This time the brilliant uniforms of pre-war days will not be worn until to-night at the gala dinner.

His court preacher, Dr. Bruno Doehring, in the birthday sermon, declared the former kaiser's heart and prayers still were with the German people and that he had "never renounced his duty."

Doorn manor was banked with flowers. Conspicuous among them was a huge bouquet from Crown Prince Juliana of the Netherlands and Prince Bernard, her consort.

Villagers cheered loudly when Bernard arrived at the manor. Doorn and surrounding villages were bedecked with Dutch flags.

NEW AIRPLANES FUND IS ASKED

Roosevelt Calls On Congress to Appropriately 50-Millions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—President Roosevelt asked congress today for an immediate appropriation of $50,000,000 to be spent largely for new airplanes in the administration's national defense program.

He submitted the request in a letter to Speaker Bankhead which asked that the money be made available for expenditure during the remainder of the current fiscal year and through the year starting July 1.

Mr. Roosevelt said the money would provide, in part, for the defense program he recommended to congress on Jan. 12. At that time he suggested a $300,000,000 army airplane procurement program and said approximately $50,000,000 should be made available immediately. Today's request for the air corps was $44,482,829. The administration said it would obtain 565 new combat airplanes.

In addition, Mr. Roosevelt requested $14,000,000 for signal equipment for the signal corps and $2,067,100 for armament for the 565 airplanes.

Foreign Holdings In Spain Checked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Foreign investors and exporters have at least a $500,000,000 stake in Spain, torn by civil war for two and a half years.

American investments in Spain at the beginning of the conflict in July, 1936, amounted to about $30,000,000, according to the department of commerce.

More than half of this sum represented the International Telephone and Telegraph company holdings in the Compania Telefonica Nacional de Espana, which controlled the telephone communications system in Spain. There is no Spanish debt owed in this country, nor Spanish bonds held here.

Foreign investments in Spain in 1935, the last year of peace, were estimated at about $30,000,000. About 60 per cent of this investment was French, representing holdings in mines, shipping, industries, and agricultural interests.

Santa-Phooey!

VINCENNES, Ind.,—Hereafter, four-year-old Conrad Schulte will leave this Santa Claus business to someone else.

He decided to play Santa, climbed into a 7-foot picnic furnace chimney, slid down—and stuck.

He howled. His dog howled. His father came on the run.

Brick by brick, the chimney was pulled down, and Conrad, badly scared, emerged.

Rockets Are Ruled Tie Game Winners

TOLEDO, Jan. 27.—The University of Toledo was ruled a 48 to 47 winner over Heidelberg college in the controversial basketball game in Tiffin Jan. 18, according to a letter received today, by Ray King, business manager of the University of Toledo athletic department.

The letter was from Oswald Tower, official interpreter of rules for the National Collegiate Athletic association and editor of the rules book for the National Basketball committee of the United States and Canada.

Tower wrote "in any review of the case at this stage, it would be absurd to take the official record book to the exclusion of all other records of the game, unless it can be proved that all other records contain errors." Four out of six books kept on the game showed a 48 to 47 victory.

Both King's and the official scorebook showed a 48 to 47 tie game in the box score, but in the running score kept at the bottom of the page, the score stood at 48 to 47 in favor of the Rockets. The other four books kept by newspapermen showed a 48 to 47 victory in both the box and running score.

Debate Wagner Act

"SCHNAZI" A DOG, HAILED AS HERO

Lisbon "Pooch" Goes To Aid of Mistress In Distress

A lady residing on a Lisbon rural route owns two dogs. Although the breed is not recognized, they are, in fact, chicken dogs. They spend their nights in the hen house where they not only guard the flock against intruders but keep the hens off the nests at night. Among chicken fanciers this seems to be a very desirable thing.

T. A. Eckstein, in charge of the office, Dog Warden Dan Butch and Miss Gladys Rinehart, assistant, carefully preserved a list of names this year. By considering the list thoughtfully one can obtain a bird's eye view of current events.

Both Hitler and Mussolini figure prominently on the list. The Seven Dwarfs also are there but, strangely enough, Snow White is missing. Dogs named Grumpy, Happy, Doc, Dopey, etc., abound but the closest approach to their heroine of the story is a pet named "Snow Ball."

A Druggist's Dog

"Raider" Morgan, Lisbon pharmacist, calls his dog "Apothecary." Another applicant, for rather obvious reasons, offered "So-So." A Scottie was listed under the name of Angus McGinnis Samoor.

A tendency toward high sounding names is illustrated by the following: Shandy-Gaff, Buckeye Singer, Middle Island Mark, Lodestone Benji and Lady of Moonglow.

The office estimates 7,000 persons will have secured licenses when the mail is completely answered. The dog warden says there are at least 2,000 dogs in the county without licenses. Unless their owners pay out the cash the state requires, their lot in the future will not be a happy one, Butch indicates.

Sick Leave Ruling Abused, Says Strain

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—George A. Strain, state director of industrial relations, called today for strict adherence to sick leave regulations in his department.

Assessing he had discovered cases of "flagrant abuse" of the regulations, Strain said "employees are entitled to four weeks of a year—two for illness and two as vacation—and this will be the maximum allowed."

He said payrolls showed some persons had received pay while being off three and four months because of illness.

DAYTON, Jan. 27.—Francis C. Nickel, 55, died last night of injuries suffered when he was struck by a truck as he alighted from a street car.

Rabbit Hunting In Ohio Is Looking Up

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—Rabbit hunting in Ohio should be good next season.

Distribution of 40,000 northern Missouri cottontails throughout the state will be completed this week, a conservation division announcement said today.

Don Waters, conservation commission, said the Missouri rabbits were purchased at a cost of $20,000. About 5,000 Ohio rabbits trapped on game management areas will also be released throughout the state, Waters said.

Waters said the conservation division hoped eventually to trap as many as 25,000 Ohio rabbits for distribution in areas reporting game shortages.

FRANCO TROOPS TAKE BADALONA

Leaves Army of Occupation to Put Conquered Barcelona In Order

the bulk of his forces thrust out to the north, steadily driving back the government foe.

Generalissimo Franco charged his military governor, Gen. Eladio Alvarez Arenas, with restoration and maintenance of order.

The Auxilio Social, women's organization, distributed food and clothing to the needy from large trucks.

In the suburbs, men and women swept out the debris left by the insurgent bombings and trains resumed their normal services.

The insurgents occupied the headquarters of the autonomous government of Catalonia and the magnificent building along the Avenida Gracia where government Premier Juan Negrin maintained headquarters until a few hours before his flight.

Surrender Firearms
Citizens were ordered to surrender their firearms immediately.

France's columns, meanwhile, advanced rapidly north of Barcelona, striking further blows at the fleeing government forces.

One column was reported to have taken the town of Moncada, about eight miles away on an inland highway leading to northern Catalonia, presumably cutting off the retreat of soldiers and refugees.

At the same time, supporting troops moved down the Llobregat river, west and south of Barcelona, cleaning out government pockets left by the swift advance of the insurgents into the former capital.

(Government troops were said to be establishing defense lines closer to the French border. Perpignan reports said Premier Juan Negrin and other government officials conferred at Figueras yesterday on the military situation.)

Reports from Madrid said government forces had repulsed attacks both in southwestern Spain and on the Valencia front between Teruel and Sagunto. Madrid's populace apparently was not yet aware of Barcelona's capitulation.

Barcelona remained calm and orderly, with food kitchens rushed in yesterday to feed hungry residents. Electric lights and telephone service already were restored.

There were touching scenes of reunion as thousands were liberated from prison.

Welfare Problems Studied by Judges

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—Discussion of a legislative proposal to establish county welfare departments for handling county institutions, relief and other matters occupied the attention of Ohio juvenile judges at concluding sessions of their annual convention today.

Judge V. A. Bennehoff of Seneca county asserted in an address yesterday that causes of divorce also were primary factors contributing to juvenile delinquency.

The convention endorsed a plan for requiring medical certificates to obtain marriage licenses and adopted a resolution opposing any attempts to cut from 18 to 16 the age at which children may come under juvenile court jurisdiction.

SHERIFF LISTS YEAR'S ARRESTS

John Barleycorn Responsible for 148 In Jail During 1938

LISBON, Jan. 27.—John Barleycorn still gets more persons into trouble than any other single cause, according to a report compiled Thursday by Sheriff Harry Gosney's office.

In 1938, 93 persons were lodged in the county jail for intoxication, the reports shows. Forty-six imprisonments for driving while intoxicated and six committed for habitual drunkenness brought the total to 148 individuals owing their jail residency directly to overindulgence.

Non-Support Next

Ranking next were 66 non-support cases. Auto thefts and disorderly conduct accounted for 29 imprisonments each. Other charges included: Rape, 6; breaking and entering, 26; armed robbery, 10; stealing, 13; larceny, 14; petit larceny, 11; shooting with intent to kill, eight; burglary, four; manslaughter, two; stabbing, three; chicken stealing, eight; violation of parole, six; assault and battery, 29.

Fornication, five; adultery, six; vagrancy, four; pocket picking, three; violation of the fish and game laws, five; carrying concealed weapons, nine; violation of public commission regulations, six; selling untaxed liquor, nine.

Operating a motor vehicle with fictitious license plates, 16; removing mortgaged property, three; illegal train riding, five; resisting an officer, six; contempt of court, one; abandoning a pregnant woman, three; first degree murder, three.

Three For Murder

The men held for murder included Charles Flory of Center township, Frank Moore, East Liverpool, and Burl Rogers of East Liverpool. Flory entered a plea of guilty to second degree murder in November and was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary for life. He was charged with the shotgun slaying of his wife, Mrs. Florence Flory, last summer.

Moore entered a plea of guilty to manslaughter and was given one to 20 years in the penitentiary for shooting August Fischer of East Liverpool. Burl Rogers was found guilty of first degree murder last March by a jury in connection with the slaying of Clarence Dickey of East Liverpool during an attempted holdup. He received a life sentence when the jury recommended mercy.

The sheriff's office made 417 arrests during the year and answered 1,274 calls. Auto thefts reported to the office totaled 39. Of these, 23 were recovered. Three stills were located and destroyed by the office. The comparatively modern science of finger printing resulted in 21 arrests during the year.

Men confined in the jail during the year aggregated 508. Twenty-nine women occupied the women's ward during the same period.

Bridge Business Still Holding Up

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—Ohio's four state-owned toll bridges showed a substantial net operating profit during the last eight months of last year, in the face of a substantial decrease in traffic, according to an audit just completed by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Net profits after deducting all operating costs and interest on outstanding bonds were: Sandusky Bay bridge, $127,421; Ft. Steuben bridge, $74,743; Pomeroy-Mason bridge, $6,567; East Liverpool-Chester bridge, three months operation, $49,241.

According to the annual report of the state bridge commission, traffic over the bridges respectively for 1937 and 1938 was: Sandusky bay 1,172,466 and 969,590; Ft. Steuben, 1,674,603 and 1,482,818; Pomeroy-Mason 107,318 and 107,514; East Liverpool-Chester, which was acquired last October, showed traffic of 381,302 for the three months.

The state auditor's report said both the Ft. Steuben and East Liverpool-Chester bridges were losing considerable revenue by permitting merchants to purchase coupons at a discount and resell them. He recommended the practice be stopped immediately.

Here and There -- About Town

Describes Latin-Americans
Theodore Schreiber, lecturer and archaeologist, described a trip over what he termed the All-American road, at yesterday's meeting of the Kiwanis club, at the Memorial building. He was presented by Earl S. Kerr.

Describing road conditions which failed to measure up in any degree, to the modern highways of the United States, Schreiber told of the Latin American countries and their peoples, with motion pictures furnishing highlights of the trip.

Schreiber also gave his lecture before High school students Thursday morning.

Frat Men Hunting Purse Snatchers

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27.—Fraternity men at Western Reserve university and Case School of Applied Science equipped themselves with paddles, ball bats and hockey clubs today, and organized a vigilante committee to give slugging purse-snatchers some of their own medicine.

Scores of women have been beaten and robbed by purse-snatchers in nocturnal jaunts in and near the university district.

"We want to let the rats know what they're going to get if they show up in this district," said Cornelius Schied of Beta Theta Pi. No. 1 vigilante.

Millions Starving In U. S., Nazis Told

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—Minister of Agriculture Walter Darre today pictured the United States as a land where millions were starving in the midst of plenty.

Opening the annual agricultural fair, he told Germany's farmers that in the United States "everything was to be had in stores but 10,000,000 unemployed and their families are starving."

National Socialism, he said, considered it "better that the entire nation be protected from hunger" rather than have such an alleged situation.

Achievement

DALLAS—The Farrar family took time off for a double-barreled celebration.

Boyce Franklin Farrar, Jr., 18, received his high school diploma the same day the family observed the birthday anniversary of his 13-month-old son, Boyce Franklin III. The young father completed his High school work at night school as his marriage prevented his return to regular classes.

Lebanon District Fire Damage High

LEBANON, Jan. 27.—Fire which raged out of control for three hours destroyed four buildings, including the postoffice, in nearby Haysburg early today with loss estimated by firemen at $25,000.

Firemen from Wilmington, Lebanon and Waynesville joined the Haysburg volunteer department and citizens—the latter clad for the most part in pajamas and overcoats—in subduing the flames.

Crews were handicapped by lack of water, three fire cisterns and five private wells being pumped dry. Automobile "bucket brigades" carried water from Waynesville, three miles away.

A power cable was severed during the fight, plunging the village of 350 into darkness.

The fire started apparently in the restaurant of Charles Thompson. Assistant Postmaster R. E. Hurst, recently ill, arose from a sickbed to save mail in the one-story frame building housing the postoffice.

Thompson's home and a nearby barber shop burned to the ground and interiors of the postoffice and restaurant were destroyed.

Jaunt Is Ended

LISBON, Jan. 27.—Charles Hannell, 16, who ran away from his home yesterday at Holidaysburg, near Altoona, Pa., was picked up—cold and hungry—near West Point last night by a passing motorist.

The youth, who said he was "headin' for Texas," was brought to the county jail and held until his father, J. L. Hannell, came for him this morning.

The pact was characterized as a tragedy by Ramsey, who said that if France and Britain had stood firm they could have called Hitler's bluff. The policy of appeasement, he said, was not work. Ramsey believes, because the dictators will continually make more and more demands.

Ready For War

Gas mask schools, bomb producers in homes, trenches dug and ready for the occupancy of day residents, are common places according to the speaker. He told of seeing a farmer fitting gas masks on his cattle in a field, during a recent tour.

Ramsey said he had once asked a German friend why they tolerated restrictions on press and speech, mentioning the freedom with which all Americans expressed themselves.

"We, too, sometimes criticize the government," the German answered. "When we get together we sometimes tell stories about officials with a double meaning."

Silver Streaks Defeat Comets; Reisman's Spank Whit's

Opening the second half schedule of the city's Class A basketball circuit, the Silver Streaks and Reisman's Comets, who finished in a tie for second place in the Class A league's first round race.

The Silver Streaks, coached by the Carroll Comets, 30 to 28, while Reisman's trounced Whit's garage, 37 to 20.

Paul Baltorin, Jim Alaback and Walter Linder led the Silver Streaks to their upset victory over the Comets, who finished in a tie for second place in the Class A league's first round race.

Baltorin collected eight points to lead the Silver Streaks in scoring, while Alaback and Linder scored six points apiece. Hippie set the scoring pace for the Comets with 11 points.

With Baker hooping six field goals and one free throw to tally 13 points, Reisman's had no trouble in slipping to an easy win over Whit's Garage. Lora led the Garagemen in scoring with eight markers.

Leaders in the first half race of the Class B league were not involved in two Class B games which saw the Methodists 'B' edge the Christians, 27 to 24, and the Baptists defeat Demings, 28 to 23.

Kenny Holwick was the big run in the Methodists' triumph, pounding in the hoop for four field goals and as many free throws to score 22 points. Kerr contributed nine points to the Methodists' total. Brooks started for the Christians with 13 points, made on five field goals and three free throws.

The victory was the fourth in eight games for the Methodists 'B' team, while the defeat was the Christians' eighth in a row.

The Baptists were led by Tunney Snyder in gaining their fourth victory in eight games over Demings. Snyder chalked up 12 points on five field goals and two charity shots. Sullivan and Catlos shared scoring honors for Demings with six points apiece.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Various Spots

By EDDIE BRIETZ.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Mike Jacobs has given up on finding a white hope. . . Any kind will do now, and very much obliged to you. . . Mike's best bet for a summer show is to toss Baer, Galento, Pastor and Nova at Louis all in one evening, then close up shop until Patrick Edward Comiskey sheds his swaddling clothes. . . Jimmy Wood of the Brooklyn Eagle thinks Joe could belt out all four of these guys at one sitting without referring to the script. . . Me and you bofe, boy.

It is no longer a mystery why so many heavyweights (Levin and old George Godfrey are the latest) are turning wrestlers. . . Just look at these out-going cards: Schmeling out 2:04; Lewis out—2:29.

Whizzer White was guaranteed $15,000 to play pro football at Pittsburgh last year, but voluntarily returned $6,000 of it when he learned the Pirates finished in the red.

Well played, Whiz, as they say at Hoxford. . . Tony Galento guest-starred for the World-Telegram on the fight. . . His piece was headed: By Antonio Galento, author of "Tanks for Everything" and "Ten Nights in a Barroom."

Sonja Henie and Bess Ehrhardt don't exactly belong to the mutual admiration society. . . How they toss their pretty heads when their paths cross. . . Some folks think it's because when Bess and her Ice Follies opened in Los Angeles, Sonja hit on the same night to pitch the biggest party of her dimpled career, and invited all the celebs. . . Naturally, the big shots couldn't be in two places at the same time and somebody's feelings were hurt. . . We would not know whose. . . Anyway, those passing stares are—well, rather icy.

A southern correspondent swears he overheard this one on a Miami golf course: Sam Snead: "What did you have going on?" Dutch Harrison: "33." Snead: "How in the world did you shoot a 33?" Harrison's partner: "Listen, Sammy, you ain't the only guy in this tournament."

Detroit wants Buck Newsom as well as Earl Averill. . . Look for some big trades when the pro football magnates meet in Chicago next month. . . The Middle Three Football league, composed of Lafayette, Lehigh and Rutgers, may expand to include Brown. . . Frankie Frisch is kicking for a base, broadcasting job in Cincinnati.

Prof. John Carmichael figures it all out in the Chicago Daily News. . . He says Tommy Farr is going after the 27 straight defeat record held by the Knox college football team. . . Miami papers please check.

ECHOES OF THE CAGE CONTEST STILL RESOUND

Ohio Conference Makes It Tough On Early Grid Practice

By FRITZ HOWELL.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—Echoes of that week-old 48-48 tie basketball game between Toledo university and Heidelberg's Student Princes still are going round-and-round.

Toledo is seeking a ruling from Oswald Tower, official interpreter of the national rules committee, as to whether a deadlock is permissible under the regulations, or whether the Rockets won the game, 48-47.

Coach T. R. Turney of Heidelberg announced that the tie count was official but that a post-season game would be scheduled with the Rockets to determine which is the better team.

The difficulty arose when the official scorer, after informing the referee the final score was 48-47 in favor of Toledo, found an extra free throw tucked away in his book for the Student Princes. So far the game is in the books as a deadlock.

A couple of years ago the Ohio conference was forced to chastise several members in the Cleveland area for failure to observe the football practice starting date—and the same thing may come up again this year.

The 20-college loop has a regulation that teams cannot start practice until two weeks prior to the last Saturday in September. The last Saturday in the month falls on Sept. 30 this year, which sets the starting date for Sept. 16. Several teams have games slated for Sept. 22, so they'll have less than a week to get ready for the kickoff.

So the coaches of conference teams playing non-league foes who are not bound by the ruling have three alternatives: (1) Tossing a green squad against a team further advanced; (2) canceling the opening games; or (3) violating the starting date edict so as to have their teams ready to go.

Jimmy Conzelmann, Washington university's grid coach, will be the principal speaker tonight as civic organizations of Athens toss a banquet for Ohio university's grid team, co-champion of the fast-fading Buckeye loop.

The Bobcats next season will open their grid campaign Sept. 23 against Western State Teachers of Kentucky, and then run into the foe on consecutive Saturdays: Butler, Western Reserve, Ohio Wesleyan, Xavier, Dayton, Morris Harvey, Miami, and Western Michigan Teachers.

Only two regulars from the mighty 1938 squad, Halfback Jimmy Snyder and End Howard Wertman, will be back.

About that great Toledo basketball team—did you know? That it plays teams from 10 states this year? That its game with George Washington university had been shifted from Monday to Tuesday night to avoid conflict with the President's ball?

That Coach Harold Alderson of the Rockets also is physical education instructor at Devilbiss High school? That a couple of days after Ball State ended the Toledo winning streak at 11, the Rockets halted Glenview (W. Va.) Teachers at 40 straight wins? That Chuck Chuckovits, the point prince, is married to a sister of Coach Alderson's wife?

That Guard Al Hosfield and Manager Bill Fulghum of the basketball squad also are married (not to each other)?

That the squad is setting a new attendance record? That Marshall Carlson, Chuckovits' sophomore running mate, is one of the best golfers in the state?

Ohio State Cagers Gun for Top Berth

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—The Ohio State Buckeyes go gunning for a share of first place tomorrow night in the only game on a Big Ten basketball bill interrupted by semester examinations.

The Buckeyes encounter the lowly but dangerous Chicago Maroons here.

A victory for the Ohioans would bring their fourth in five conference starts and would land them a tie with Minnesota. The Gophers took over the top spot last Monday by overcoming Illinois, the team responsible for Ohio State's only setback.

At Fresno, Calif., Pearson, the New York Yankees' star right handed pitcher, said he had rejected his contract. It was reported Pearson was offered the same figure as last year, believed around $12,000.

Dodds-To Run

ASHLAND, Jan. 27.—Gilbert Dodds, Ashland college runner, will compete in the two-mile events in the Millrose games in New York, Feb. 4, and the Boston A. A. meets Feb. 11.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

—BY GAIL STEWART—

The Pirates and Barons remained deadlock in first place in the Class B intramural basketball league at the Salem High school gymnasium last night as both teams posted victories.

The Pirates gained their sixth win in seven games by walloping the Satans, 44 to 22. Theis scored 12 points to pace the Pirates to the victory. Moga tallied 12 points for the Satans.

The Barons had easy sailing in trouncing the Panthers, 28 to 15, for their sixth win in seven games. Del Favero and Pridon each collected 10 points for the Barons, while Bolinger hit the hoop for four field goals and one free throw to tally nine points for the Panthers.

The Ravens edged out the Five Aces, 16 to 11, with Antonio collecting 10 points for the winners and Nocera and Scullion ringing up four points apiece for the Aces.

The Termites broke into the victory column for the first time of the season when they won by forfeit over the Buckeyes.

Remaining in first place in the Class C league, the Falcons took the measure of the Aviators, 21 to 14. Milligan sank two field goals and two free throws to lead the Falcons with six points. Steffel led the scoring for the Aviators with six points.

In another Class C game, the Comets won over the Eagles, 20 to 6.

HURLER BROCA AMONG MISSING

Can't Locate New Indian Pitcher to Find How He Spends Winter

LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 27.—Dear sports editor: I didn't get the story. For three months now I've been hunting Johnny Broca, the new Cleveland Indian pitcher, to find out how he is spending the winter and maybe have a cameraman take a picture of him sawing wood or feeding a bloodhound or eating a truffle.

I don't know all the other baseball players get their pictures into the paper in the off-season.

But not Broca. He doesn't answer knocks at the door enclosed find expense account for knuckle ointment. He won't pay any attention to letters. Once he appeared to be weakening when he promised a mutual friend he'd drop in for an interview, but he failed to show up.

The rear door of the Broca home leads into an alleyway. Apparently Johnny leaves the other baseball players get their pictures into the paper in the off-season.

My knuckles are sore and my eyes are getting weary looking for the former Yale star, who jumped the New York Yankees in mid-season, 1937, and tossed away a chance of sharing the players' cut of two world's series.

There's a rumor he drops into a small restaurant occasionally for a late snack, but I guess I don't get hungry at the same time he does.

In case you've decided to fire me, boss, let me tell you the story of Tom Wheelan, a High school coach who scouts for Cleveland in his idle moments. He enlists the aid of half a dozen friends of Broca in an effort to sign him with the Indians. The spectacled pitcher just couldn't be corraled. And imagine Wheelan's surprise when he heard Broca was already signed up!

Some of Broca's chums say he's in fine condition. He must be. He can't be anything else. With trepidation, Your Bay State correspondent.

In Golden Gloves

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27.—Hopeful young fisticuffers from Akron and Lorain will participate tonight in the second round of the Plain Dealer's Golden Gloves boxing tournament. Nearly 200 bouts are scheduled. Fourteen Akron fighters and 28 from Lorain are to toss leather. Cleveland talent completes the bill.

Galento Starter

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27.—Tony Galento, New Jersey heavyweight prize fighter, will fire the starting gun at Cleveland's six-day bicycle race, which begins next Wednesday. He will stop here on his way to Detroit, where he fights Natie Brown next Friday night.

DETROIT CALLS SECOND 'DIZZY' BACK TO FOLD

Boastful and Colorful Paul Trout Up From Texas

Trot out the earmuffs, baseball fans, for next season Paul Trout, silver-tongued, self-styled "Dizzy" Dean of the minors is coming up to the Detroit Tigers for his second major league trial and this time is determined to stick.

The aqueduct rookie pitcher from Beaumont, whose career reads like a press-agent's dream, was chosen the most valuable player in the Texas league last season. Schoolboy Rowe, former Tiger star, had a better won and lost percentage and Max Thomas, Tulsa, set the pace in earned runs, but nevertheless sports writers making the choice, leaned toward Trout because of his undisputed value as a team man.

Dizzy Trout was a howling favorite with Texas fans especially the Ladies' Day contingent. Like the Dizzy Dean of a couple of years ago, he had more eccentricities than a dictionary has definitions and the turnstiles clicked rapidly when he was announced as the day's pitcher.

He never refused an autograph, saved old bats and balls for the Kid's Knothole Club and was the perpetrator as well as the butt of all the practical jokes in the book. He was a one-man show on the mound or on the bases. He thought nothing of often holding up a game to tie his shoes, mop his brow or take a "chaw of terbacery."

Trout was born on June 29, 1915, in an old mining town near Terre Haute, Ind., and developed his "mighty" right arm with an old rag ball, flinging rocks at telephone insulators on poles and killing small game with green walnuts.

He stands 6 feet 2 inches and carries over 192 pounds of playing weight. He pitched his first professional ball with Terre Haute in 1935, was bought by Indianapolis at the close of the season and sold to Detroit the next year. He was sent on option to Toledo in 1937 and to Beaumont in 1938.

Despite his antics, Trout has lots of heart and pitched himself out of plenty of "three on and none out" jams to finish the season with a record of 22 victories against 6 defeats. He climbed into a three-way tie for second place in the earned run column, taking part in 37 games and 233 innings, fanning 115 and walking 94.

He relies mainly on a fast ball and a tricky change of pace. Like the national league's Dizzy used to do, he catapults his high, hard one across the plate with mercury-like speed and then, just when the batter is all set to powder the next one, Trout springs his change of pace. His formula is an apparent success as records attest. His presence, along with Rowe's, undeniably was the difference between a first-division and second-division finish for Beaumont.

Dizzy doesn't expect to flash along the American league sky like a meteor. No, not at all, to hear him tell it, he just expects to "baffle" batters for only the next "20 years or so."

New Baseball Seen As Aid to Twirlers

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 27.—Catcher Rick Ferrell of the Washington Senators sees the new baseball adopted last month as a boon to American league pitchers.

"When a ball with raised seams is used you aren't going to find so many hurt arms," Ferrell said.

"That's the trouble now. A pitcher has to throw his arm away trying to get some unnatural delivery to fool the batter."

"But give him a ball he can grip and you'll see better baseball and fewer ailing arms."

Ferrell predicted the Detroit Tigers would be the most improved club in the American league this year.

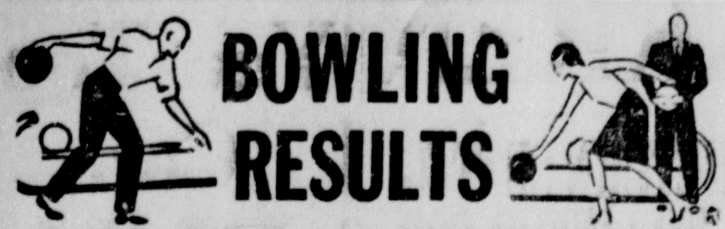

MANSFIELD.—Someone's guilty conscience added $4 to the cash register in a store here. The money accompanied an anonymous letter stating that the $4 was for payment of goods stolen from the store several years ago.

BERLIN, N.H.—Mrs. Fred Goodwin received an amethyst ring from her husband for Christmas. Goodwin cut and polished the gem with a home-made machine constructed of parts from a discarded family sewing machine.

BONURA ANTICS FAN HOT STOVE LEAGUE GOSSIP

Infielder Insured His .300
Mark By Missing
Critical Game

Cutting the corners at a Hot Stove league session:

Zeke Bonura, new first baseman of the New York Giants may lack that certain something in fielding ability but he certainly doesn't want for eccentricity—there was a time in the fall of 1934 when he failed to show up for the White Sox last game of the season at Cleveland. Reason: He wanted to finish the season with a .300 batting average. Frankie Frish and Babe Ruth seem to have lots in common these days during the open season on major league managerial jobs—both are picking up nothing but weight.

Cy Young, pitcher with three no-hit games on his record, now works for $6 a day in the Ohio senate, he is third assistant sergeant-at-arms.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, former pitching great with the Cardinals, is employed as a "greeter" in a St. Louis tavern.

You might have bought your newspaper from Gabby Hartnett in Racine, Wis., on Dec. 17—the tomato-faced Chicago Cubs' manager added the town's Christmas fund by peddling dailies on street corners.

The world-champion Yankees will be mailing player contracts for 1939 about the middle of January and take it from Business Manager Ed Barrow, there should be no squawks.

One reason for the Dodger's optimistic 1939 viewpoint is Fred Sington, 30-year-old Jewish giant from Birmingham, who took part in 17 Brooklyn ball games last September and cracked out 18 hits, nine for extra bases, for a lousy .368 average.

It will be interesting to note how Manager Johnny Neum makes out with the Newark Bears next season, he won't have a made-to-order club to operate, almost a dozen of his stars have found their way into the majors....

Add to "funny, but true" department: Pie Traynor, manager of the Pirates, lives in Cincinnati and Bill McKechnie, pilot of the Reds, resides in Pittsburgh.... Major league umpire John Quinn spent the pre-holiday season selling Christmas novelties in department stores....

Virgil Oliver Trucks should have a score of major league scouts on his trail—this 19-year-old right-handed pitcher with Andalusia of the Alabama-Florida league set a new strikeout record for organized baseball last year, fanning 418 batters in 273 innings. He registered 25 victories against six losses—his earned run average was 1.25....

Steve "Crusher" Casey, the wrestler, is in the wrong league—it's reported that the "grunt and groan" behemoth can palm eight baseballs in one hand....

It's hard to believe that the Yankees really want Fred Hutchinson, the Coast pitching phenomenon....

The Ruppertmen, one of the richest outfits in baseball, could easily outbid all rivals, in cash or in players....

The two Chicago clubs will meet

MY LOVE IS NEW by IRIS BENNETT

When Avis left quietly, Gordon came to Constance and took her shoulders. No longer was there any magic in his touch. She thought, "I can look at him and even smile a little and feel nothing except pity."

"Well," he said and let out his breath in relief. "I suppose this is the end of summer." His dark eyes warmed once again briefly. "I've held few things sacred, Constance, but I want you to know that I shall hold you sacred as long as I live. You're such a child, my dear."

"Will you be happy, Gordon?"

"He smiled a thin smile. 'Very, I think. At last I know what happiness is—for me. I won't tell you what it is for you. But I think you know. And it will come to you or you'll stumble across it. Sometimes we have it and lose it and have to go back to find it.' Holding her close and gently as he would hold a frail child, he said, 'We had nothing in common, Constance. All that would have been new to you was old to me. You want your cup filled to overflowing but I could only half fill it. Remember that.'

She drew away and smiled again—remembering well what she thought weeks ago—that loving him was a disease, a fever. But the disease had left her and she was whole and normal again. Why had she not seen that her youth was her great attraction for him and that by it he had vainly hoped to recapture his own youth that had been burned out and wasted?

She held out her hand. "Good-bye, Gordon."

He nodded. "Good-bye, Constance."

As a father would speak to his daughter....

Avis was standing by the window in the living room, smoking nervously. Constance did not speak to her. In the crisp air outside the house she stood a moment and breathed deeply. Free! Half aloud she said, "I'm free!"

And thought that instant of Terry. A chill went through her, a chill of regret and shame. Oh, don't think of him! But the image of Gordon was out of her heart and the image of Terry was still there! She said, "Terry, Terry," as she walked across the lawn to the car. But it was too late, too late.... An ideal had been broken that day while the storm raged. Terry had torn her from his heart that terrible day.

Tonight was the dinner party at the Howards. And tomorrow? What of tomorrow? "Every day I'll want Terry back again more and more and I'll never get him back now, never as long as I live! When you trample a strong man's pride and love under your heel, you've lost him forever."

After a long time Avis went back to the study and went straight to Gordon and put her arms around him and wept.

"Me, a cry-baby, that's funny!" she said, half-laughing. "Oh, darling, wasn't Constance splendid? No tears, no reproaches. I couldn't tell what she was thinking." She touched his face and brought his mouth down close to hers. "Beginning right now I'm never going to remind you of anything that went before. And if I ever mention my money again, I want you to give me a black eye." Her eyes searched his face. "You don't look happy, Gordon. Oh, let's be happy and foolish and—make plans."

He laughed to please her and tried to bring his mind from the thought of Constance's slim figure in brown, retreating. Good-bye, lovely girl, loveliest girl of all the girls I've known, who almost made me young again. Good-bye, lovely Constance, with dreams in you could never have fulfilled. Where do you go from here? To young Terry Cannon? And you will be contrite and ashamed and offer him your love again. But youth is stubborn and proud and has not yet learned to be tolerant and he may turn you away....

But he said to Avis, "What'll I do in one of your father's various factories? Sit at a big desk and push buttons...."

"And dictate to a hideous secretary! I shall see to it that she's hideous!" With her brown arms tightly around him, she said, "I thought about us all the way back, Gordon. I saw us getting married today in my house with just my parents there, and running through rice to a train and going back to the hotel room in New York where I left my trunk. I saw my father happy because I'd married the only man I ever wanted to marry. And I saw us getting a boat, darling, and later dancing in Paris and London and laughing, laughing a lot. Then I saw us back in Northville, living in a new house of our own, and you going to the office every day, and coming home every night a little after five. I saw us sanely and securely married—you happy because you didn't have to worry any more, and I happy because I had you...."

He took her small brown hands and kissed them. "You're suggesting the very kind of life I've always run away from. Lisbeth's father...."

She put her finger over his mouth. "Didn't I say we were never going to talk about what went before? Well, just once more to tell you that Lisbeth married again last week, married a grand person. I ran away from the kind of life opportunity. But I was looking for something to fill my loneliness. I craved excitement, fast boats and fast planes and fast horses. But all the time speed was taking me farther away from the one thing I wanted most of all. The corners of her mouth turned up. "Weariness and worry have brought you out of the skies to earth, Gordon. Loving you has brought me to earth—to stay."

He held her closely and sighed. No longer did it matter what people thought of him because, after today, only two people would be important to him, only two people he would try to please, Avis and her father. Those two he would strive never to disappoint. A feeling long lost came back to him, a feeling of power. Here in Northville would dare question the authority of John Bailey's son-in-law.

Suddenly his eyes burned as her arms tightened around him again. Hold on, red-haired, green-eyed Avis. Keep those slender brown arms of yours around my neck tightly. You love me for my weaknesses and in spite of them. Constance gave me credit for high qualities and strength I never really had.

Her lashes flickered against his face. "We'll be happy, darling. I'll make you happy."

He took her restless hands and kissed them again. Suddenly he couldn't say anything for a full feeling in his throat. He had come to the end of a long rough journey. He had come to the end of summer. Her voice was lighter. "Shall we go tell Dad and Mother now? They're waiting. And they want you because—because you're the only man I ever wanted."

John Bailey wanted a son to carry on, Avis had said. He, Gordon, would be that son....

She was holding tightly to his arm when they came out of the house together. May Constance find her happiness, too, he thought. And may it be as overwhelming as his at this moment....

Ruth was sitting in the shadowy living room when Constance came in. The radio was playing softly and her right ear was inclined in the direction of the music. Her sensibly shod foot tapped in rhythm. A low fire burned in the brick fireplace.

Constance stood in the doorway and smiled. Her flecked eyes were clear and calm.

Ruth laughed. "Matt sent me a corsage of gardenias to wear to the Howards tonight. Imagine it! Gardenias and a dress with a slit in the back—at my age! You know, I never thought to ask if Gordon had been invited. They must know about you and him, dear. I'm sure Rosalind has told them."

It was some time before Constance spoke because she was thinking of the study where she had been miserable and then falsely happy, and of the two people who were in the study now making plans to be married. She could hear Avis' husky laughter and Gordon's deep voice, tender and resigned.

"I'm not going to marry Gordon after all, Mother." And when Ruth's eyes came up quickly, Constance shook her head a little and said, "Yes, I mean it. I'm not going to marry him. Avis Bailey is. Today I knew I didn't love him. Real love doesn't go out of you as if a gust of wind had come along and swept it out. That's what happened to me today."

Ruth's eyes filled. After a moment she said, "Oh, my dear, you did know in time! I was afraid you wouldn't. I was so afraid you wouldn't. He is too old for you.

Constance. His charm is a mask." "That's what I saw today," she said softly. "Now—now we can forget all about it. I left him and Avis together. She loves him very much."

"And you and Terry?" Ruth saw Constance stiffen and her mouth tremble. "You love him. And even if you had married Gordon, you'd have known later that it was Terry you love. That's what I was afraid of! I knew the day would come when you would wake up from the passionate dream you've been in and spend the rest of your life wanting Terry."

"I can't go to him!"

"Why can't you?"

"He'd think that Gordon had discarded me and I was running back to him. That's why! He'd never believe that today when I saw Gordon as he really is, everything I felt for him, for Terry, came back in a rush."
